America's Demosthenes.

Oration delivered at the Junior Entertainment by F. F. Mykrantz, of Ashland, O.

Millions of young hearts in all quarters of our land, are awakening to the responsibility which rests upon them in preserving their country's institutions. Millions of young hearts are resolving that it shall not be their fault if they do not stand, for a century to come, a beacon of liberty to mankind. The legend on that new collossal Pharos, at Long Island, may now indeed be, "Liberty Enlightening the World." Although not without scars and blemishes on our front; not without shadows on our past; and, it may be, clouds on our future, we are freed forever from at least one great stain. Whoever else may have been more immediately and personally instrumental in the final result, the brave soldiers who fought the battles or the gallant generals who led them; the devoted philanthropists or the ardent statesmen who in season or out of season labored for it; the martyr present who proclaimed it; the true story of emancipation can never be fully and finally told without the one man eloquent, being recognized as the leading figure of the stuggle—Wendell Phillips. His life was not local or limited, it was as large as liberty and as broad as humanity, and his name is not the treasure of a state only, but a national possession. An orator whose eloquence like the music of Amphion raising the Wall of Thebes was a chief force in giving to the American Union the defence of freedom, is a common benefactor. The West may well answer to the East, the South to the North, and Carolina and California, Minnesota and New York mingle their sorrow with New England, and in Phillips' death mourn a common bereavement.

A Boston boy, he played upon Beacon Hill. He entered Harvard College at sixteen where he became a favorite by his charm of conversation and kindly humor, and became master of the College platform by his powers of oratory. Then the young lawyer, looking forward in the consciousness of commanding power to a professional career of the most brilliant promise. The future rises before him a benignant presence, beckoning to him with jeweled fingers and temptng him with visions of triumph in social and political life. He is waiting for his first client. Suddenly it comes, scarred, scorned and forsaken, cowering and friendless that client was wronged and degraded humanity.

It was my good fortune to hear him tell this story of his life from the lecture platfrom in his eulogy on Garrison. One wild October afternoon, sitting with his office windows open, the sound of unusual disturbance drew him to the street where heheld a spectacle of which Boston cannot now conceive. He saw an American citizen assailed by a furious mob for declaring in a free state the rights of innocent men and women to their personal liberty. It was enough, as the jail doors closed on Garrison, to save his life. Garrison and his cause had won him for an ally. Together they flung full in the face of slavery the defiance of immediate and complete abolition. History cannot on her pages find more heroic action. Luther nailing his challenge to the church on the church's own door when the church was supreme in Europe. William Tell in the romantic legend scorning to bow to Gesler's cap, when Gesler's troop held the market place, are not more noble figures than Philips and Garrison. It is to their praise, destined to fill an immortal page, that from the beginning they saw the true character of slavery and warned against it, and declared in favor of the grand law of humanity which is more comprehensive than all others and under which every man should find shelter. Let their policy be judged by its fruits, inspired as it was by the noblest impulses of the human heart and impelled by the dearest interests of humanity, in full harmony with the moral laws of the universe, and in warm sympathy with progressive spirits of the age.

George William Curtis said at the late memorial service for Wendell Phillips that the memorial rite was not a tribute to official service, to literary genius, to scientific distinction, but homage to personal character. The solemn public declaration that a life of purity of purpose, devoted with unselfishness, and with amazing results to the welfare of the country and humanity, is, in the American Republican example so inspiring, a patriotism so lofty, and a public service so beneficient that in contemplating them, discordant opinions, differing judgments, and the sharp sting of controversial speech, vanish like frost in a flood of sunshine. As Demosthenes was the orator of Greece against Philip; Cicero of Rome against Cataline; and John Pym of England against the Stuart despotism, Wendell Phillips was distinctly the orator as others were the statesmen of the anti-slavery cause. He faced his audience with a tranquil mein and a beaming aspect that was never dimmed. He spoke and in the measured cadence of his quiet voice there was intense feeling, but no declamation, no passionate appeal, no superficial and feigned emotion; unconciously the ear and heart were charmed. How was it done? Ah, how did Mozart do it? How Raphial? The secret of the rose's sweetness, of the bird's ecstasy, of the sunset's glory that is the secret of genius and eloquence.

What was heard, what was seen, was the noble form of manhood, the courteous and self-possesed tone; the flow of modulated speech sparkling with matchless richness of illustration, with apt allusion, happy anecdote and historic parallel, with wit and pitiless invective, with melodious pathos and stinging satire. The divine energy of his conviction possessed him, and his pure and eloquent blood spoke in his cheek and so distinctly wrought that one might almost say his body thought. Was it Pericles swaying the Athenian multitude? It was an American patriot, a modern son of liberty, with a soul as firm and true as was ever consecrated to unselfish duty, pleading with the American conscience for the chained and speechless victims of American inhumanity.

When the war ended and the purpose of his relentless agitation was accomplished, Phillips was not idle. His great philanthropy made him the advocate of other great reforms. The temperance gospel he declared he would always preach as long as man should poison his brother man with alcohol. He sympathized with the poor Indians when they were driven from one reservation to another, farther West, to make way for the white man's homestead. Through him the sorrows o Ireland pleaded with America. He could not tolerate tyranny or oppression in any form or in any country. The short but simple annals of the poor ever found his ear attentive. Shall we not learn lessons from his life of the patriot's duty, whose patriotism is the love of country, whose code of morals is the love of man? Then the pillars of our republic will be firmer set, and its destiny the surer be, and then indeed shall be given a purer emphasis to the language of the Roman bard: "Ye have raised monuments more lasting than the brazen statues, and higher than the royal pyramids, which cannot be destroyed by the washing rains or the fury of the winds, by the series of countless ages or the flight of eternal years.

The task of Wendell Phillips is finished. He has no part or lot now in all that is done on earth. No more for him the voice of love, the song of gladness, the load of care, the cup of sorrow. Not for him the beauty of the spring, the splendor of the summer, the glory of the autumn, the uncrowned majesty of winter. Flowers will spring from his grave, storms will beat upon it, morning will greet it with the earliest light, night will crown it with her stars.

A Case that Puzzled the whole Faculty.

Mrs. Milo Ingram gave the names of some of the most reputable physicians in the two cities (Pittsburg and Allegheny), to whom she had paid large sums of money for treatment but she rapidly grew worse. She was then taken to the most reputable physicians and surgeons in New York, but with no better success. They had all pronounced it cancer, and declared she must die. The flesh of her breast was eaten away down to her ribs; the breast bone was laid bare and the disease made its way upwards, causing the breast to become detached from the wall of the chest, hanging loose from above. See page 26 of Dr Hartman's "Ills of Life," how Peruna cured her. They are given away by druggists gratis.

Peruna.

This medicine was introduced to the medical profession and to the public at large by S. B. HARTMAN, M. D., in 1877, after he had prescribed it to over 40,000 patients in almost every disease to which flesh is heir.

It is wholly composed of numerous vegetable ingredients, each one of which is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the most potent of all the herbal remedies known to medical science.

But its great virtue is mainly attributable to the new and peculiar proportions in which the harmonious ingredients are combined, and to the extreme care exercised in its manufacture using only the pure, active principles, and excluding all that is crude or irritating. No one should be without Peruna.

LATEST SONG BOOK OUT.

What people say of it:
"Unusually bright in stirring and joyful songs."
"A very superior book." "A grand work."
"Its songs are golden." "Never examined a better book."
"The quality of songs, together with its new and convenient arrangements, make it a most desirable work."
"An examination proves its superior merit."

It Speaks for Itself. All we ask of Sunday Schools needing new song books, is to send for a sample copy before adopting any other. Single copy 35c., or $3.60 per doz. Sample copy to any address, 25 cents. Printed both in round and character notes.

A million that families have used it for a quarter of a century.

It is an old trick of the Royal Co. to throw dirt, crying lime and potash, transposing dates, parading black lines, and alleged Government Chemists in order to detract public notice from the disgusting drug ammonia in their powder. They know that Dr. Price's does not contain ammonia, lime or potash.

Do not take our Word for it. Let every Housekeeper prove it.

Place a Can of the Royal, top down, on a hot stove until heated, then remove the cover and smell.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO.

MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE.

I have several times examined baking powders in the market to determine their purity, raising power and influence on the health of those using them. I have uniformly found DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER the best in all these respects.

I have just made another examination of the "Royal," "Andrews' Pearl" and "Dr. Price's Cream," and the results are the same as formerly. DR. PRICE'S CREAM is free from AMMONIA, while the "Royal" and "Andrews' Pearl" both contain Ammonia. The final reaction of DR. PRICE'S CREAM" is acid, while the "Royal" and "Pearl" give an ALKALINE reaction, which LEADS to DYSPEPSIA. Price's is a pure, clean and elegant proportion of Cream of Tartar and Bicarbonate of Soda, and there does "in no wise enter into it anything that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie."

In raising power "Price's" stands at the head.

The relative amount of Carbonic Acid Gas given off by the same weight (10 grammes) of these powders, heated in the same way, is as follows:

Dr. Price's Cream Baking powder -	650 cubic centimeters
The Royal - - - - -	600 cubic centimeters
Andrews' Pearl - - - - -	543 cubic centimeters

I have used PRICE'S in my family for years. "Even if the price is higher, PRICE'S is always the best."

HONEY OF CAMPHOR.

We call it "Honey of Camphor." It is sometimes called "Deacon's Drops." We send it in packages by mail upon receipt by mail of 50 cents or $1. A fifty cent package will make one quart; a dollar package will make two quarts. It is as easily prepared as a pot of coffee. Full directions for preparing and using it go with every package. It is handy to prepare it and profitable to sell in every neighborhood. No family in which there are children will do without it, once they learn the value of it. We have used it in our family for twenty years. It is pleasant to take and will relieve all pains of the stomach and bowels. It will almost instantly check every form of Diarrhea. It is the best Cough Remedy we know of, and is a Ready Relief in all complaints of the Breast and in Hoarseness and Catarrhal affections generally. It is a soothing and sleep-producing anodyne for Infants and children, and a cold and cough cure for older people. It is an excellent anodyne lotion for Sores, Cuts and Bruises. Storekeepers in some places keep it, but there you pay at the rate of $1.50 for what we propose to sell you for 50 cents. They sell you an article of half strength for double price. Twenty-five 2 cent Postage Stamps will pay for a 50 cent package, and a dollar bill, at our risk by letter, pays for two packages. Try it. You will find "Honey of Campor" often to be to you in the family a "Balm in Gilead" when there is "No Physician there." It is put up in packets enclosed in small bag with full directions, and sent by mail at our risk. It is most excellent for consumptives, and will cure in some cases. I firmly believe it to be the best family medicine in all the complaints for which we recommend it, including sour stomach, and for saving Doctor Bills, that has ever been discovered. It keeps any length of time and is needed alike in summer and winter. Address

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and AGUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections—the King of Blood Purifiers.

DR. JOHN BULL'S VEGETABLE WORM DESTROYER is prepared in the form of candy drops, attractive to the sight and pleasant to the taste.
